Dual Degree Master Political Philosophy and PPE

Do you wish to gain an interdisciplinary perspective to better understand how to address major societal changes? Do you wish to study in two different countries and broaden your horizon? Our selective dual degree master combines a rigorous PPE training at the University of Groningen with a research programme in Political Philosophy at the Universitat Pompeu Fabra in Barcelona.

Climate change, populism, or deepening inequality: our world today faces many complex challenges that cannot be tackled by one discipline alone. At the University of Groningen, our courses in Philosophy, Politics and Economics will equip you with the central theoretical and methodological tools from PPE to understand complex problems and assess proposals to address them. The courses at Universitat Pompeu Fabra will prepare you as a researcher by deepening your knowledge of cutting-edge Political Philosophy and equipping you with high-level research skills.

- An introduction to what philosophy is and how to do it, with applications to different areas of philosophy
- Expand your knowledge, analytical skills, critical thinking and writing
- Taught by leading and dedicated researchers at two of Europe's top Political Philosophy departments
- Acquire high-level research skills and develop new lines of research
- Personal mentoring in a friendly atmosphere
- Small class sizes in an international classroom
- Experience two European universities, cities and cultures and strengthen your intercultural competences

Duration 2 years
Students can either start their first year in Groningen or in Barcelona
