3. SCOPE AND STRUCTURE OF DEGREE PROGRAMME

Article 3.1 – Aim and learning outcomes of degree programme

1. The degree programme is designed to:
   a. impart knowledge, skills, and understanding in the field of ....., and to achieve the learning outcomes listed in Article 3.1.2;
   b. promote academic development. This is defined as the development of competences (knowledge, skills, and attitudes) concerning:

- independent academic thinking, practice, and communication;

- academic and general communication;
- use of specific knowledge of a field in a broader academic, philosophical, and social/cultural context;

c. prepare students for a further academic career. Students will be educated on the theory and practice of academic research from the very start of their Bachelor's degree programme.

2. Graduates:
   a. have knowledge and understanding of the field of ....., in particular .....;
   b. have knowledge and understanding of the theoretical and methodological principles of .....;

   f. are able to communicate information, ideas, and solutions to both specialist and non-specialist audiences;
   g. have the learning skills needed to continue on to a Master's degree programme.

3. The learning outcomes of the different course units have been listed in the appendix.

As per Section 7.13(2)(c) of the Act, the Programme Committee has the right of consent concerning Article 3.1.2. However, the Minister has explained in a letter to the institutions that students should not be assessing their own learning outcomes. As the letter does not refer to (c) as conferring the right of consent to the Programme Committee, an amendment to the Act is to be expected.

Article 3.2 – Research

1. Students conducting research as part of their degree programme will do so in accordance with the relevant rules and regulations, the Dutch Code of Conduct for Academic Integrity, and the principles of ethical research.

2. Throughout the research process, they will comply with the Faculty's data management policy and procedures.

3. Prior to conducting research, a student may engage with their supervisor to draft a data management plan, which will be stored in accordance with the Faculty's data policy. This plan will address as a minimum:
   - the student's responsibilities when processing personal data;
   - the data storage and security procedures followed during the research process;
   - data archiving and the data retention period; and
   - responsibilities governing data reuse after the research process.

4. Copyright to theses and other independently written assignments that aim to assess a student's knowledge, understanding, and skills will belong to the student in question in principle. Anyone wanting to use a student's thesis or other written work will require this student's consent. In order to archive theses and written assignments (possibly under embargo) and process them in accordance with the rules set out by the Dutch Inspectorate of Education and the Act, the University needs to be able to perform these actions without conditions attached. All students are required to consent to the aforementioned actions unconditionally.

N.B.: this article is optional. Responsible data management in research is one of the priorities of the UG's data policy. This article will be relevant only if a student, rather than joining an existing research initiative, is expected to develop their own research plan. The Faculty policy should clearly address the scope of the student's and their supervisor's responsibilities. Data management plans must be stored such that they can be retrieved.

Article 3.3 – Format of degree programme

The degree programme will be offered on a full-time basis.

Examples of alternatives
1: The degree programme will be offered on a full-time and a part-time basis.
2: The degree programme will be offered on a full-time, part-time, and co-op basis.
3: The degree programme will be offered on a full-time and co-op basis.

As per Section 7.13(2)(i) of the Act, the Faculty Council has the right of consent.

Article 3.4 – Medium of instruction

1. The degree programme will be taught in Dutch/English/target language of the programme.

2. <If Dutch/English/target language of the programme>: Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 3.4.1, one or more course units of the degree programme can be taught in English/Dutch, in accordance with the UG Language Policy.

Legal basis: Section 7.2 of the Act; as per the UG Language Policy, adopted by the Board of the University on 16 July 2024.

The Board of the University adopted the UG Language Policy on 16 July 2024. This policy superseded the UG Code of Conduct: Languages Used in Teaching and Examinations. The Language Policy stipulates that the media of instruction will be categorized based on the full curriculum within a programme. The medium of instruction of course units is the language in which tests are administered in principle. Required reading falls outside the categorization and will typically be in English or multilingual. The UG has defined the following categories:

- The programme is 100% Dutch-taught (D);
- The programme is 100% English-taught (E);
- The programme is Dutch-taught for at least two-thirds of its credits and has a number of English-taught course units (D/E);
- The programme is English-taught for more than two-thirds of its credits and has a number of Dutch-taught course units (D/E);
- The programme is taught (for more than one-third of its credits) in a language other than Dutch, which is also the target language of the programme, and has Dutch and English-taught course units as well (TL).

The Teaching and Examination Regulations will stipulate for the UG's Bachelor's degree programmes which of the categories applies. There are three possible categories: Dutch (which includes N and N/E), English (which includes E and E/N) or the Target Language (which includes TL). Article 3.4.2 offers scope for teaching course units in a different language than the programme's formal medium of instruction.

Article 3.5 – Student workload

1. The degree programme will have a student workload of 180 ECTS credits.
2. The first year of the degree programme will have a student workload of 60 ECTS credits.
3. The student workload is expressed in whole ECTS credits.
4. The part-time variant will have a student workload of 30 ECTS credits per year.

Legal basis for student workload: Sections 7.4(1) and (3), and 7.4a(1) of the Act. The transfer from credits to ECTS credits was agreed at European level in the Bologna Declaration.

As per Section 7.13(2)(e) of the Act, the Programme Committee has the right of consent concerning the student workload of the degree programme and individual course units in the degree programme.

Article 3.6 – Practicals

1. In addition to lectures, the following course units, as listed under Articles 4.1 and 7.1, include a practical in a specified format and for a specific number of hours (duration):
   no. 1: (format) ....., (duration) .. mornings/afternoons/weeks/months;
   no. 4: (format) ....., (duration) .. mornings/afternoons/weeks/months, etc.

2. The examination for a course unit as referred to in this article cannot be taken until after the relevant practical has successfully been completed.

3. With regard to the course units, successful completion of the relevant practical is considered to mean passing the examination.

Article 3.7 – Contact hours

1. The first year of the degree programme will comprise a minimum of ... contact hours per year for the full-time variant and a minimum of ... contact hours per year for the part-time variant.

2. The second and third years of the degree programme will comprise a minimum of ... contact hours per year for the full-time variant and a minimum of ... contact hours per year for the part-time variant.

3. The procedure for organizing contact hours has been formalized in the student handbook and/or OCASYS (see also Appendix 2).

As per Section 7.13(2)(x), the Faculty Council has the right of consent as the number of contact hours has a bearing on the framework of instructional design.

Article 3.8 – Degree programme structure and examinations

1. The programme will be concluded with a final Bachelor's assessment.

2. The entire programme will comprise a Major and a University/Personal Minor.

Article 3.9 – Participation in course units

1. Students may participate in course units of the degree programme if they have duly registered for the programme in …

2. The maximum number of students for each course unit is listed in OCASYS.

3. Admission to course units with limited capacity will be granted based on order of registration. Students who are enrolled in the degree programme will be given priority for the required course units in their Major (or Minor).

   Alternative: admission to course units with limited capacity will be granted based on predefined and published admission criteria and priority regulations. Students who are enrolled in the degree programme will be given priority for the required course units in their Major.

4. Students enrolled in the Bachelor's degree programme will not be admitted to course units offered in the Master's degree programme.

As per Section 7.3(3) of the Act, every degree programme will be concluded with a final assessment and every course unit will be concluded with an examination.

As per Section 7.13(2)(x), the Faculty Council has the right of consent as participation in course units has a bearing on the framework of instructional design.

4. FIRST YEAR OF DEGREE PROGRAMME

Article 4.1 – Structure of first year of degree programme

1. The first year of the degree programme will comprise the following course units, involving the specified student workloads:
   1. ..... (.. ECTS credits)
   2. .....(.. ECTS credits)
   3. ..... (.. ECTS credits)
   4. ..... (.. ECTS credits), etc.

2. All course units are listed in OCASYS, the online University course catalogue, specifying the teaching format.

3. In situations of force majeure, when it is not reasonably possible to offer teaching in the manner stated in OCASYS, alternative teaching and assessment formats may temporarily be used, subject to the condition that the agreed learning outcomes continue to be achieved.

The legal basis can be found in Sections 7.13(2)(e) and (x) and 7.13(2)(a) of the Act. The scope of the degree programme and its examinations are set out in the Teaching and Examination Regulations.

As per Section 7.13(2)(e) of the Act, the relevant Programme Committee has the right of consent concerning the student workloads of the various course units.

5. BINDING STUDY ADVICE

Section 7.8b of the Act (Study advice in propaedeutic phase) reads as follows <translated>:

1. The board of a funded university, university of applied sciences, or ideological university must provide advice to each student on whether it would be wise to continue studying within or outside their Bachelor's degree programme no later than by the end of their first year of registration for the propaedeutic phase of a full-time or co-op programme. For part-time Bachelor's degree programmes, the board of the institution will determine when this advice is issued.
2. Notwithstanding the provisions of (1) above, advice may be issued to a student at any time until they have passed the propaedeutic assessment.
3. Advice as referred to in (1) and (2) above may result in rejection of the student in question for certain degree programmes designated by the board of the institution within the time period referred to in (2) above, but not before the end of the first year of registration. Such a rejection may only be issued if the student in question, bearing in mind their personal circumstances, should – in the opinion of the board of the institution – be considered unfit for the degree programme because their academic record does not satisfy the relevant requirements set by the board. Rejections may be issued subject to a deadline. Rejections may also be expanded to include degree programmes that share a joint propaedeutic assessment with the degree programme in question. The board of the institution may only exercise the power set out in this provision if it provides all the accommodations needed to enable students to achieve the required academic progress in the propaedeutic phase of the relevant degree programme.
4. Before issuing a rejection, the board of the institution will give the student a warning including a reasonable deadline by which to improve their academic record to the satisfaction of the board. In addition, the student will be granted the opportunity to argue their case before being rejected.
5. When a student is rejected on the grounds of (3) above, their enrolment in the degree programme in question at the relevant institution will be terminated. The student will not be able to reregister for the same degree programme at the same institution unless the board of the institution has applied the third sentence of (3) above or the student requests to register for the degree programme at a later time and can then demonstrate, to the satisfaction of the board, that they will be able to successfully complete the programme.
6. The board of the institution will define more detailed regulations for the implementation of the provisions set out above. These regulations will at least address a student's academic record and the accommodations referred to in (3) above, as well to the deadline referred to in (4) above.
7. An Order of Council will determine which personal circumstances as referred to in (3) above the board of the institution will take into account in its assessment.
8. For the purposes of this section, the term 'propaedeutic phase' will refer to the first period of an academic Bachelor's degree programme, with a student workload of 60 ECTS credits, and the term 'propaedeutic assessment' will refer to the set of examinations for the course units in the first period of an academic Bachelor's degree programme, with a total student workload of 60 ECTS credits.

Article 5.1 – Preliminary study advice

1. Mid-way through the first semester of the first year of registration in the first year of the degree programme, students will be issued a study progress overview specifying the student workload completed until then.
   Additional study progress overviews will be sent to students later in the academic year. (Section 7.8b(6) of the Act)

2. Students will be issued a written preliminary study advice as soon as possible after the first semester, and in any case before 1 March. (Section 7.8b(4) and (6) of the Act)

3. The preliminary study advice will entail a warning if a student's academic record is weak, giving them a chance to improve their performance. (Section 7.8b(4) of the Act)

4. If a student's academic record is so weak that they cannot reasonably be expected to satisfy the conditions for receiving a positive study advice within the meaning of Article 5.2.2.a and b, they will be invited to a interview with the study advisor. The aim of this interview is to discuss the student's study habits, to reassess their choice of degree programme, and if necessary to suggest a transfer to a different degree programme. (Section 7.8b(3), (6), and (7) of the Act)

Article 5.2 – Definitive study advice

1. Students are expected to earn at least 45 ECTS credits in their first year of registration in the first year of the degree programme. This is known as the BSA threshold.

2. The definitive study advice will be issued at the end of the first year of study, by 31 July at the latest. This can be either: (Sections 7.8b(1) and (2) of the Act)
   a. positive: for students who have earned at least 45 ECTS credits (part-time students: 20 ECTS credits) in the first year of the degree programme.
   b. negative: for students who have earned fewer than 45 ECTS credits (part-time students: 20 ECTS credits) in the first year of the degree programme. This study advice is binding for students as per Section 7.8b(3) of the Act.

3. In the event that, as early as mid-way through the semester, a student's academic record is so weak that they cannot reasonably be expected to meet the BSA threshold of 45 ECTS credits (part-time students: 20 ECTS credits) by the end of the first year of study, a negative binding study advice may be issued following the preliminary study advice as referred to in Article 5.1 before the end of the academic year. The student may also request to receive a negative binding study advice. The procedure set out in Article 5.5 applies. (Section 7.8b(1) and (6) of the Act)

4.a. The Faculty Board will take extraordinary personal circumstances as referred to in Article 5.4 into account in its decision which study advice to issue in the first year of registration. (Section 7.8b(6) of the Act)

b. Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 5.2.2, if no opinion can be expressed on a student's suitability for the degree programme due to personal circumstances occurring in the first year, the opinion may be postponed until a later date in the first year of the programme. A different BSA threshold may be agreed upon in such cases.

BSA regime governing personal circumstances, adopted by the Board of the University on 8 June 2010. The discontinuation of the propaedeutic assessment was approved by the Board of the University in its meeting on 3 October 2016.

Article 5.3 – Exceptions to definitive study advice

The legal basis can be found in Section 7.8b(3) and (6) of the Act. Included in the Teaching and Examination Regulations since 2011-2012.

Multiple degree programmes at University of Groningen

1. Students who have registered for the first year of two or more UG degree programmes and who satisfy the BSA threshold as referred to in Article 5.2.1 for one degree programme will not have to satisfy the BSA threshold for the other programme or programmes in that year. Students who have successfully completed the first year of one degree programme are exempt from the BSA requirement for the other programmes.

Previously earned propaedeutic certificate

2. Students who have already completed the propaedeutic phase of a degree programme at the University of Groningen or another Dutch university, or (for degree programmes that do not issue propaedeutic certificates), in the opinion of the Board of Examiners, have earned 60 ECTS credits in the first year, will not fall under the BSA regime governing the UG degree programme for which they enrol in the first year.

Deregistration before 1 March

3. No definitive study advice will be issued to students who submit a request for deregistration before or with effect from 1 March of the first year of registration for the first year of the degree programme. The procedure set out in Article 5.1 will apply again to students who reregister in a subsequent academic year. They will then be subject to the BSA regime for the academic year in which they reregister.

Deregistration before 1 March and registration as of 1 February

4. Article 5.2 applies in full to students who deregister from a degree programme before 1 March and register for a degree programme in the same programme cluster (see Appendix xxx) as of 1 February of the same academic year.

5. Article 5.2 applies in full to students who deregister from the full-time variant of a degree programme before 1 March and register for the part-time variant of the same degree programme or a degree programme in the same programme cluster (see Appendix xxx) as of 1 February of the same academic year.

Registration as of 1 February

6. The BSA threshold will be adjusted for students who register for a University of Groningen Bachelor's degree programme as of 1 February and who were not previously registered as students in the same academic year. These students will be required to earn 20 ECTS credits from the second semester of the first year of the degree programme (part-time students: 10 ECTS credits) by the end of the second semester of the first year of registration. In all other cases, the provisions of Article 5.2 apply mutatis mutandis.

Article 5.4 – Extraordinary circumstances

The legal basis for Article 5.4 of the Teaching and Examination Regulations can be found in Section 7.8b(3) of the Act. Amended in response to the letter from the Minister about the application of the BSA regime.

1. When deciding whether to issue a negative binding study advice, the Faculty Board will make allowance for a student's extraordinary or personal circumstances if so requested by that student. The Faculty Board can thereupon decide to adjust the BSA threshold or postpone issuing study advice.

   The evaluation of personal circumstances will also take into account the student's study habits, the agreements made, and any academic plan drawn up in consultation with the study advisor, the time at which the extraordinary circumstances were reported, and the academic record achieved by the end of the first year of study.

2. Students are expected to report any extraordinary circumstances to the study advisor as soon as possible in order to ensure optimum support. The Faculty Board, or the Faculty BSA Committee on its behalf, will make a decision in response to a student's request for a postponed advice or adjusted BSA threshold. Students are also expected to report to the study advisor as soon as possible if they fail to adhere to the academic plan drawn up in consultation with the study advisor based on the original or adjusted BSA threshold. (Section 7.8b(6) of the Act)

3. If no opinion can be expressed at the end of the first year as to a student's suitability for the degree programme due to personal circumstances occurring as referred to in Article 5.4.1, the opinion may be postponed.

4. If the opinion has been postponed, the study advice can still be issued while the student has not completed the first year of the degree programme.
   a. The advice will be positive if the student has satisfied either the original or the adjusted BSA threshold.
   b. The advice will be negative (and binding) if the student has failed to satisfy either the original or the adjusted BSA threshold by the end of the first year of the degree programme.

5. All students whose study advice has been postponed (whether or not combined with an adjusted BSA threshold) are expected to draw up an academic plan in consultation with their study advisor/mentor/assigned supervisor, addressing at least the following:
   a. the first-year course units of the degree programme the student has failed to complete, including time to completion;
   b. the second and third-year course units of the degree programme the student might take besides the course units referred to under Article 5.4.5.a.

Policy based on Section 7.8b(6) of the Act.

6. Circumstances as referred to in Article 5.4.1 will not automatically lead to entitlement to a grant from the Student Support Fund.

Article 3 of the UG Student Support Fund Regulations, Part B, reads as follows:
In addition to the provisions of Article 2 of these Regulations, Bachelor's students who, during an academic year, are members of a consultative body, committee, or board as set out in Appendix 2b to these Regulations will be entitled to financial support if they were issued a provisional or definitive positive study advice in the first year of their degree programme.

Article 5.5 – Procedure for issuing definitive study advice

1. Definitive study advice is issued by the Faculty Board on behalf of the Board of the University. The decision will also set out the applicable legal protection provisions.

As per Section 7.8b(3) of the Act, the BSA will be issued by the board of the institution.

2. Before a negative binding study advice is issued, students will receive notice of the intention to issue such an advice, after which they will be given the opportunity to argue their case with the Faculty Board or its representative.

Article 5.6 – Consequences of negative binding study advice

Legal basis: Section 7.8b(5) in conjunction Section 7.8b(3) of the Act.

2. Students who have been issued a negative binding study advice will not be permitted to take course units in this degree programme through a different degree programme or educational institution, thereby avoiding the consequences of their binding study advice. No exemptions will be granted for course units completed in this manner, nor will such completed course units be otherwise recognized within the framework of the degree programme.

Article 5.7 – Consequences of positive study advice

1. Holders of a positive study advice for a UG degree programme will be admitted to the second and third years of the degree programme.

Article 6.2 – Hardship clause

Article 9.9 – Request for extra resit opportunity

1. Students can submit a request for an extra resit to the Board of Examiners.

2. Such a request may be granted if the student in question failed the relevant exam due to extraordinary circumstances and if not granting the request for an extra resit would result in an unacceptable delay in degree completion.

3. The following criteria will apply to granting a request for an extra resit for the last course unit in the degree programme:
   - the course unit qualifies as the examinee's last graduation requirement;
   - not granting the request would result in a delay in degree completion by at least one semester
   - the examinee has taken the last two regular examinations for the course unit in question and have earned marks of at least 4 and 5.

As per Section 7.13(2)(h) and (j) of the Act, the Faculty Council has the right of consent concerning the criteria for granting an extra resit.

2. When a student opts for an elective from a degree programme other than their own, the Board of Examiners of the other degree programme will be competent to administer and assess the examinations and decide upon requests for alternative examination regulations. Article 10.10.2 applies.

Existing policy based on Section 7.12b(1)(c) of the Act.

Article 9.11 – Exemptions

1. At a student's request, the Board of Examiners, having discussed the matter with the examiner in question, may grant an exemption from an examination (or partial examination) on the basis of results earned previously (possibly elsewhere) on condition that the student:
   a. has completed part of a university or higher vocational degree in the Netherlands or elsewhere that is equivalent in scope and level;
   b. can demonstrate by work experience that they have sufficient knowledge and skills with respect to the course unit in question.

2. The provisions of Article 10.2 apply to exemptions.

3. The validity period of exemptions granted for course units or partial course units will correspond to that of examination results.

Section 7.13(2) of the Act reads as follows <translated>: Without prejudice to any other provisions in this Act, the teaching and examination regulations set out the applicable procedures and rights and obligations with regard to teaching and examinations for each degree programme or cluster of degree programmes. This will include at least the following […]:
k. where necessary, the validity period of successfully completed examinations, notwithstanding the Board of Examiners' power to extend this period.
r. the grounds on which the Board of Examiners can grant exemptions from one or more examinations on the basis of previously passed examinations or final assessments in higher education or knowledge and skills acquired outside the world of higher education.

As per Section 7.13(2)(r) of the Act, the Faculty Council has the right of consent concerning Article 4.2.1 with regard to how this is effectively fleshed out.

Section 7.13(2)(m) of the Act.

As per Section 7.13(2)(m), the Faculty Council has the right of consent concerning the procedure for reasonably accommodating students with special needs or a chronic illness in taking examinations.

2. With regard to examinations for electives taken at other degree programmes by students with special needs, the Board of Examiners of the degree programme that administers the examination will comply with the accommodations allowed by the Board of Examiners of the degree programme in which the student is enrolled.

Existing policy based on Section 7.12b(1)(c) of the Act.

Article 9.13 – Exam accommodations

1. Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 9.4, the Board of Examiners may decide to grant individual students a specific exam accommodation if refusal to do so were to result in an exceptional case of extreme unfairness.

2. Requests for individual exam accommodations, including supporting documentation, must be submitted to the Board of Examiners as soon as possible.

Article 9.14 – Examination results – assessment and publication

1. After an oral examination, the examiner will finalize the examination results immediately and provide the student with a statement at their request.

Policy based on Section 7.13(2)(o) of the Act.

2. The examiner will mark a written examination within ten working days of the day on which it was administered, and will provide the Faculty's records office with the necessary details for registration of the result in Progress. If, due to unforeseen circumstances, a written examination cannot reasonably be marked within ten days, the marking period can be extended by no more than five working days. This is subject to approval by the Programme Director/Office of the Programme Director. The marking period cannot be extended in Block 2b, nor can it be extended in the first year of the degree programme.

Policy based on Section 7.13(2)(o), (p), and (q) of the Act. The ten-day marking period requirement was adopted by the Board of the University on 2 December 2003. Section 7.13(2)(o) offers scope for extending this period. The marking period cannot be extended in Block 2b due to the planning of the academic year. In view of issuing the binding study advice, the marking period cannot be extended in the first year of the degree programme either.

3. If an examination is administered other than orally or in writing, the Board of Examiners will determine in advance how and when students will receive written confirmation of the result.

Policy based on Section 7.13(2)(o) of the Act.

4. Students can lodge an appeal against the results of an examination with the Central Portal for the Legal Protection of Student Rights (CLRS) within six weeks of the date on which the result was published.

2.a. Contrary to the provisions of Article 9.15.1, the Board of Examiners may decide to require a student to take a supplementary or substitute examination for a course unit taken more than (..) years previously before allowing that student to progress to the final assessment if the student's assessable knowledge, understanding, or skills are demonstrably outdated.

b. In the event of extraordinary personal circumstances, the term of validity will be extended to include the period during which the student in question receives support from the Student Support Fund.

2. Credits earned through partial examinations and assignments within a course unit that was not successfully completed will lapse at the end of the academic year in which they were gained.

As per Section 7.13(2)(k), the Faculty Council has the right of consent concerning the limitation of the validity of earned credits where needed. This right will be limited by legal constraints, i.e. Section 7.10(4) of the Act, which came into force on 1 September 2017.

1. On request, students have the right to inspect their marked work within a period of at least … days after the results of a written examination have been published. Students who exercise this right will be provided with a copy of their work at cost price at their request.

2. Within the time frame stipulated in Article 9.16.1, any person may request that they be allowed to peruse the examination paper and the assessment criteria.

3. The Board of Examiners can decide that this inspection or perusal will take place at a certain place and at two set times as a minimum. If the person concerned can show that they were prevented by force majeure from appearing at the indicated places and times, they will be offered another opportunity, if possible within the period stated in Article 9.16.1.

2. Fraud also includes plagiarism, i.e. copying another person's work without proper citation. (Policy based on Section 7.12(3) of the Act)

3. Students who substitute their personal effort with work generated by artificial intelligence (AI) and present this as their own work will also be considered to have committed fraud.

4. For the purposes of assessing theses and written assignments, the University will conduct a plagiarism check using a plagiarism scanner. Each student is personally responsible for maintaining academic integrity.

5. In the event of suspected fraud, a more in-depth review of a student's knowledge, understanding, and skills may be performed. This in-depth review will be separate from the examinations for the course unit.

As per the UG's AI in Teaching Policy.

6. If a student has committed fraud, the Board of Examiners may exclude that student from participating in one or more examinations or final assessments for up to one year.

2. The Board of the University will not make a decision as referred to in Article 9.20.1 until after the student in question has been given an opportunity to argue their case, any interests of the student and of the institution have been carefully weighed, and it has been become plausible that the student, due to their conduct and/or statements, has shown themselves unsuitable for one or more of the professions for which they are being trained in their degree programme, or for the practical preparation for the profession. In such cases, the Faculty Board, the Board of Examiners, and the Board of the University will follow the Protocol Iudicium Abeundi as approved by the Netherlands Federation of University Medical Centres on 1 November 2010.

On condition that the student's curriculum has been approved, the Board of Examiners will determine the result of the final assessment as soon as the student has passed all the required examinations. The Board of Examiners may impose completion deadlines. The results of the final assessment are an indication that the student has undergone the necessary academic development. The Board of Examiners will issue a degree certificate to reflect this.

3. If a student fails to meet the deadlines referred to under Article 10.1.2, the Board of Examiners may decide to postpone the student's graduation date, possibly to the academic year following the year in which the last examination was passed.
